IN PHONE HEARING

Commission Sends Word That It
Will be Held Wednesday, April
21, Instead of April 20.

COUNCIL PREPARES DEFENSE

Chamber of Commerce Indorses
Stand Taken by Aldermen to Fight Further Rate Increases.

The City of Seymour has received notice from the Indiana public service commission that the hearing on the petition of the Seymour Mutual Telephone Company for rate increases in this city will be held at the city building at 10 o'clock on Wednesday, April 21. This is a notice of postponement of one day, the hearing having originally been set for Tuesday, April 20. No explanation was made by the commission as to the reason for the change in date, but it is presumed that it was made to avoid a conflict with other hearings.

The city council met at 2 o'clock this afternoon to take steps to wage a defense against the petition of the company for increased rates. Mayor Burkart stated that many patrons of the company had insisted that as strong a defense as possible be waged and that members of the council felt that the city should be represented by expert witnesses. It is likely that the city will also have the co-operation of the farmers in the present fight. The independent rural lines were heard by Commissioner John W. McCardle last Saturday, but as the two cases are said to be similar some testimony that affects both the city and rural patrons will be introduced.

The Chamber of Commerce last night indorsed the action taken by the council to wage a defense against the petition of the company and offered such assistance as may be desired.

John A. Shields, president, said that it was his understanding that if the farmers lose their case they will discontinue city service as they believe a switching charge of $3 a year is excessive. He said that he had refused to consider an offer that the farmers' rate be reduced and that the city rates be increased sufficiently to make up the loss. He offered in way of suggestion that an effort be made to effect a compromise with the telephone company so far as the city rates are concerned. Members present, however, did not become enthusiastic over the suggestion and several expressed the belief that the city ought to enter the fight and wage the strongest defense possible. Mr. Shields explained that the telephone company has its data well systematized and ready for presentation in the strongest light. The public, on the other hand, is handicapped in its defense inasmuch as it knows nothing about the telephone business and it is seldom prepared to answer arguments offered by the petitioner.

ELECTION ASKED

Chamber of Commerce Urges Council to Defer Vote on Construction of Sewerage System.

COMMITTEE FILES REPORT

A. H. Ahlbrand, Spokesman, Explains Necessity of Survey as First Step in Improvement.

Believing that the people of Seymour would be unable to vote intelligently on the proposition to build a new sewerage system in this city until they are advised relative to the cost and other essential details of the proposed improvement, the Chamber of Commerce in regular session last night adopted a resolution addressed to the city council suggesting that the special election set for Friday, April 23, be postponed. The council at its last meeting decided to hold an election at which the voters would decide if they were in favor of a new sewerage system.

Albert H. Ahlbrand, a member of a special committee appointed last fall by the Chamber of Commerce to confer with representatives of the council relative to the sewerage construction.

FREIGHT SERVICE HERE
PRACTICALLY AT STANDSTILL

Switchmen in Cincinnati Out on Strike—Indianapolis and Louisville Crews Idle.

Freight service was practically at a standstill here today, with the exception of local runs, because of the extension of the railway switchmen's strike in Cincinnati, Louisville and Indianapolis. The Cincinnati workmen went out early this morning and some of the Baltimore & Ohio crews had difficulty in reaching the terminals. The Louisville yardmen, it was reported here, were due to walk out at noon. Freight service in the Indianapolis yards was paralyzed, it is stated.

The walkout of the yardmen in the terminals means the operation of fewer trains and as a result local freight crews are idle. Only a few trains have left the city, and no attempt is made to run through trains into the affected centers.

The hampered freight service has resulted delayed shipments for practically every firm in the city. The coal situation here is not as serious as that reported in some sections, because of the proximity of the Indiana mines on a direct route.

POSTOFFICE RESEMBLES
RAILROAD FREIGHT HOUSE

Parcel Post Business Unusually Heavy As Result of Express Strike.

The local postoffice for several days has resembled a railroad freight house due to the unusually heavy parcel post business caused by the railroad yardmen's strike in several large cities. The local postoffice has handled some exceptionally large packages lately.

Several cases of eggs, automobile tires, automobile supplies, large pieces of machinery, and numerous other articles that are generally shipped by freight or express have been coming into the local postoffice and the carriers have been going out on their routes loaded down with packages. The condition is expected to continue until the strike is settled.

CARRIES WEIGHT ALMOST EQUAL TO ITS OWN

View of the Thomas Morse mail plane which recently accomplished a feat long the dream of aviation pioneers, when with a useful weight almost equal to its own, it gracefully left the snow and slush at Ithaca, N. Y. The craft is a biplane evolved and produced by the Thomas Morse Aircraft corporation. Its weight empty is 2,800 pounds. Its weight loaded is 5,500 pounds. Thus its useful load is 2,610 pounds, or only 280 pounds less than the weight of the craft. Many planes carry less than half their weight.

DRIVE IN COUNTY
BEING PREPARED

"Friendly Citizens" Will Be Asked to Give $7,874.45 for Inter-Church Movement.

TOWN QUOTAS ARE ASSIGNED

Non-Church Members in Seymour are Requested to Contribute $5,332 to the Fund.

Preparations are being made for the money drive to be made among the non-church members in Jackson county for the Inter-Church World Movement. The Rev. Walfred Lindstrom is district chairman, and M. M. Edgar, of this city, is chairman of Jackson township. The various churches in the city which are interested in the Inter-Church movement are assisting in the campaign. Each of the denominations has already raised or is conducting a campaign to raise millions of dollars for this fund. The non-church members who are designated as "friendly citizens" have also been assigned a quota.

A preliminary meeting was held at the First Presbyterian church Monday night and was attended by Mr. Lindstrom, Mr. Edgar, who also represented the St. Paul church, William Blades, of the First Baptist; the Rev. W. E. Carroll, of the Central Christian; the Rev. J. H. More, of the First Presbyterian; Charles Hemmer, of the Trinity Methodist, and Dr. L. M. Mains, of the First Methodist. Another meeting will be held at the Presbyterian study Sunday afternoon.

Under the plan which has been adopted each of the church representatives will select a captain who in turn will select six lieutenants. This organization will conduct the drive among citizens who are not included in the constituency of any church. The money which non-church members subscribe will be turned into a general fund to be distributed among the denominations according to the amounts their members have actually paid in cash.

The quota for the friendly citizens for Jackson county is given as $7,874.48. The apportionment among the various towns in the county as announced by the committee follows: Seymour, $5,332; Brownstown, Council in Special Session Decides to Put up Strenuous Fight Against Increase.

The city council in special session this afternoon decided to make a hard fight against the petition of the Seymour Mutual Telephone Company for substantial rate increases in Seymour. It was voted to distribute cards among telephone users in the city to ascertain if they are united in opposing the proposed increase. The cards will virtually be an order to the telephone company to disconnect the phones if an increase is granted by the commission following the hearing to be held here Wednesday, April 21.

SCHOOL COUNT IN CITY IS STARTED

L. E. Jennings and Geo. T. Manuel Are Appointed by City Trustees to Take Enumeration.

PUBLIC CO-OPERATION ASKED

School Corporation Will Lose $5 For Each Person Not Listed Before May 1st.

L. E. Jennings and George T. Manuel, who were appointed by the school board to take the school enumeration in this city, started work Saturday. Under the state law the enumerators are given until May 1 to complete the task. All persons between the ages of six and twenty-one years are to be listed and it is very essential that the public assist the enumerators and see that no one is omitted from the list.

The reason for taking the census of persons of school age is that it is upon these reports the distribution of school funds is made. It is emphasized that the funds are already available and if any children are not listed the school corporation in Seymour loses the amount that should come here. Upon the basis of distribution approximately $5 is given to each school corporation annually for each person of a school age enumerated. It is obvious, therefore, that if there are many omissions in the report of the enumerators the loss to the city would be considerable.

The settlements are made semi-annually and $2.50 is paid for each person listed at each settlement. The money comes from interest on funds already invested by the state school department.

T. A. Mott, superintendent of the Seymour schools, has instructed the enumerators and the work will be completed as rapidly as possible. Mr. Mott is especially anxious that each resident in the city becomes interested in the school enumeration and see that every person between the ages of six and twenty-one is listed with the school enumerators before May 1st.

FEDERAL ACTION IS CONTEMPLATED

Attorney General Palmer Asks Two Railroads for Complete List of Strikers.

RAILROAD LABOR BOARD NAMED

Nominations Sent to Senate and Confirmation is Expected in Short Time.

By United Press.
Washington, April 13—Executive officials of the government today acted to halt the outlaw strike of railroad men.

President Wilson appointed the railroad labor board which is expected to start an investigation of the strike as soon as it can be organized. Wilson also called a cabinet meeting for tomorrow at which the strike situation is to be discussed.

Attorney General Palmer called the presidents of the Pennsylvania and New York Central Railroads asking them for a complete list of strikers and the names of men believed responsible for direction of the strike. Palmer's action was regarded as the first step towards invoking criminal action under the Lever law, if it becomes necessary.

Before the railroad labor board can operate it must be confirmed by the senate. The nomination of members of the board reached the senate shortly after noon and were referred to the interstate commerce committee. Senator Cummins said he hoped the board would be confirmed by tomorrow at the latest. When the board is confirmed it can immediately begin investigation of the outlaw railroad strike on its own motion. It has full power to subpoena witnesses and demand records and papers which bear on the case under investigation.

If investigation is started promptly, Cummins said he believed the men will return to work while the inquiry is in progress. The members named are:

Public representatives, G. W. Hauger, Washington; Henry Hunt, ex-mayor of Cincinnati, and R. Barton, of Tennessee.

Labor representatives—Albert Phillips, A. Wharton and James Forrester.

Managers' representatives—Horse Baker, J. Elliott and William Park.

SPREAD OF STRIKE
APPEARS CHECKED

No Further Walkouts by Yardmen Switchmen of Any Consequence Reported Today.

MANY RETURNING TO POSTS

Gary's Coal Supply Exhausted and City was Lightless Last Night—Big Steel Plants Idle.

Spread of the outlaw strike of railroad workers apparently was checked today.

After its rapid growth throughout the country the strike situation was marked today by cessation of reports of walkouts of any consequence.

Independent conferences were held in many places in attempts to reach a settlement. The majority of strikers in Syracuse, N. Y., returned to their posts. Strikers were also reported returning in Chicago, and other western centers.

Federal investigation of the strike by the department of justice was under way in railway centers and Attorney General Palmer was reviewing the situation. Industries were feeling effects of the strike seriously. Many plants cut off from their coal supply began closing down today throwing hundreds of thousands out of employment and causing a daily loss in wages and business of millions of dollars.

Places hardest hit by the strike were Detroit, Gary, Illinois mine fields, St. Louis and Chicago. For eight days Gary failed to receive a carload of coal and the big steel mills there laid off workers by the thousands. Owing to the shortage in fuel Gary's streets were lightless last night.

TWO CONFERENCES CALLED IN EFFORT TO END STRIKE

Shea Announces He Hopes to Reach Agreement with Switchmen.

New York, April 13—Two conferences were called today in an attempt to end the railroad strikes that have partially tied up freight and passenger traffic in the New York district.

Timothy Shea, of Cleveland, assistant president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, announced he hoped to reach some definite understanding with the "outlaw" strikers today when he met nearly 3,000 workers in the city hall at Hoboken, N. J. Dr. Royal S. Copeland, New York health commissioner broadcasted a call for strike leaders to meet with him at four p. m. today. The health commissioner said the food situation was serious. Unless the strike is ended this week the health commissioner said, the health and lives of the community would be menaced. Other officials took issue with Copeland and declared the city's food supply was sufficient to last several months.

At a meeting which lasted from early yesterday afternoon until 1 a. m. today, Shea urged the men to return to work and submit to arbitration of their demands.

Railroads in the New York district reported the general situation unchanged today. Passenger service was still seriously crippled and freight traffic was practically at a standstill. No further spread of the strike was reported over night.

The New York Central remained the only road entirely unaffected by the walkouts so far as passenger traffic was concerned. This road was also handling milk and beef shipments for New York.

Suburbanites were practically cut off from New York today because of the suspension of commutation of trains on roads other than the New York Central. Ferry service between Jersey City and New York was still below normal due to the strike of tug and ferry workers; the tubes connecting Jersey and Manhattan were closed and nearby Jersey cities and towns were in many instances isolated from New York. ### FARM MANAGEMENT SHORT COURSES PROVE POPULAR

Farm economic problems furnished the subject for discussion at a series of two-day Farm Management short courses completed recently by the Farm Management Department of Purdue University in eight counties in Indiana.

At these courses the program called for the use of a pencil by each farmer present, in applying the tests of good farm management to his own business.

Among the subjects considered were, efficient use of man and horse labor, arrangement of farm and farmstead, kind and amount of livestock for most profitable management, size of business and crop yields as affecting profit, farm records and the income tax and cost of production.

The total number of individuals at the thirty-two sessions of the eight courses was 918. At two of them rural engineering problems were considered in addition to the farm management work.

These courses are being followed up by a series of one-day accounting schools in which is taken up the keeping of records suitable for income tax returns and for studying the farm business.

30,000 INDIANA FARMERS "KEEP BOOKS" THIS YEAR

Lafayette, Ind., April 12.—More than 30,000 Indiana farmers will "keep books" this year of their business in record books put out by the agricultural extension department off Purdue University. Of this number more than 24,000 were distributed through banks in all parts of the state and more than 5,000 through county agricultural agents. One hundred and forty-six banks in 67 counties have obtained the books for their farmer patrons, and in some counties practically every farmer will be supplied.

Floyd County banks purchased 1085 books which supplied all farmers in the county and 2800 books for all farmers in Wabash county, were obtained. Some of the other counties where a large number were sold were in Adams, 100; Elkhart, 500; Bamberburg, 600; Shelby and Johnson, each 500; Madison, 650; Posey, 975; Rush, 800, and Randolph, 450.

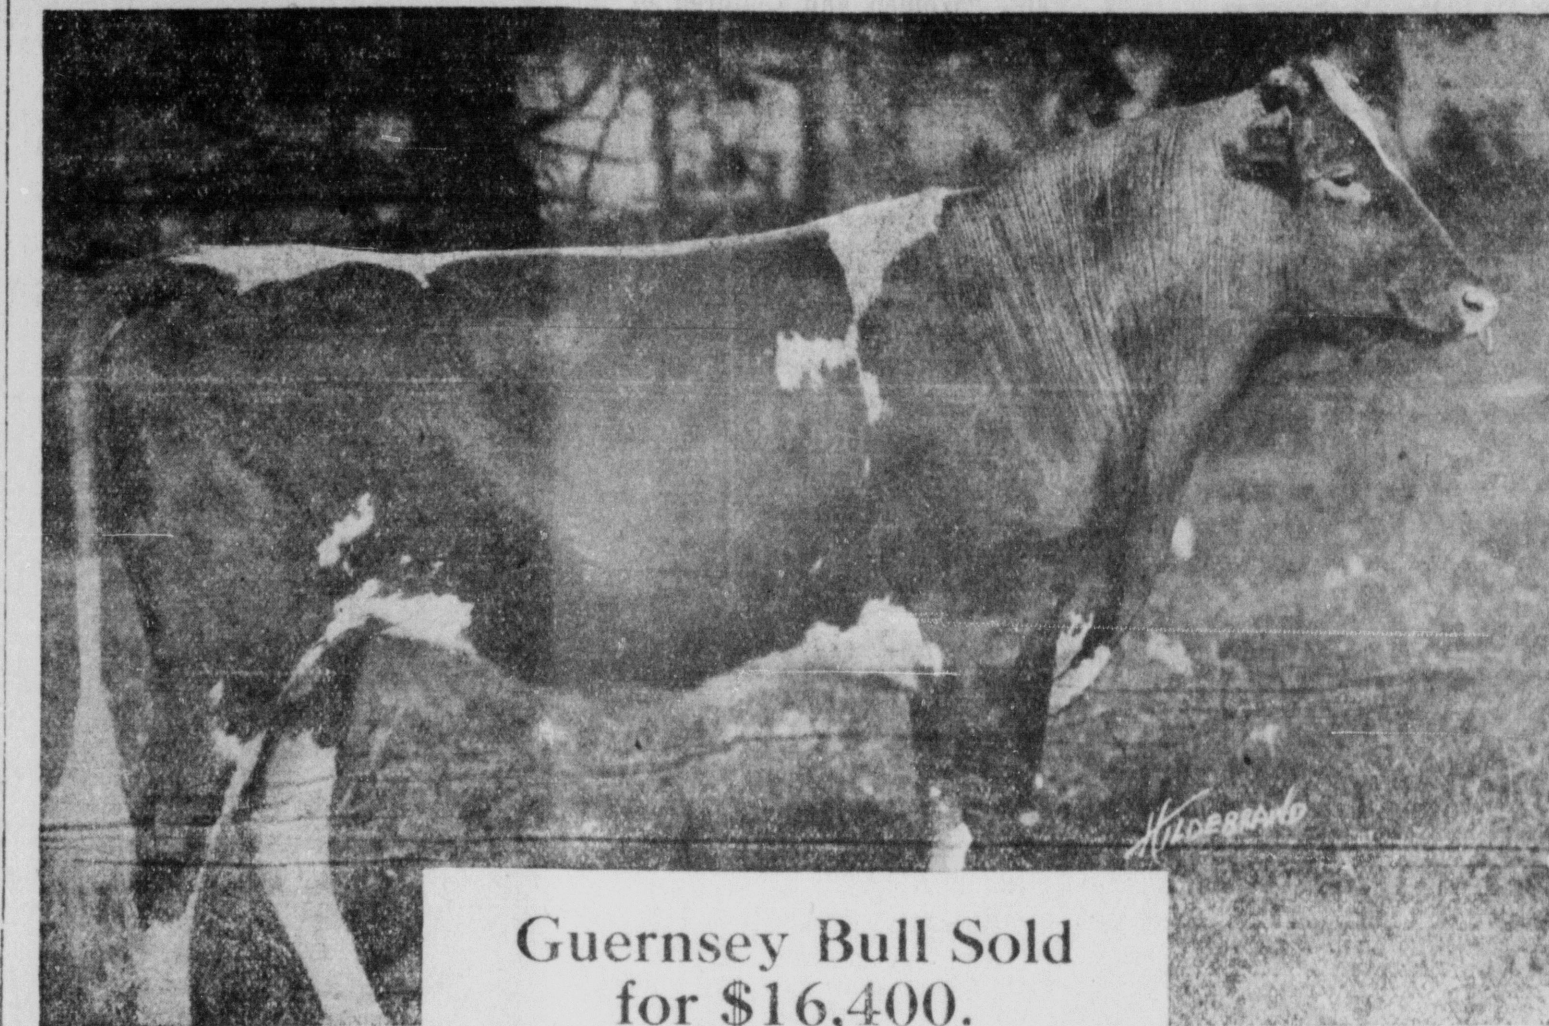

The record book contains spaces for farm receipts, expenses and inventories. It is designed to give the information necessary for income tax reports and to help the farmer study his business with a view to increasing his profits. The books which have been sold at actual cost, 15 cents each, are recognized by agricultural men in every state as among the best. They were compiled by farm management specialists at the university and contain improvements made after several years of actual work with thousands of farmers who have previously used the books.

USE CHEAPER CUTS OF MEAT TO REDUCE BUTCHER'S BILL

One way to take the high out of the high cost of living is to buy the cheaper cuts of meat, either beef, pork or lamb, say women in the home economics department of Purdue University.

"I never knew there were such cuts of beef and I'm sure that our butcher never keeps them. I can always buy porterhouse and sirloin steaks, or file of beef, but I never before saw brisket, plate, a chuck roast or neck meat," said a woman at a close of a meat cutting demonstration recently in an Indiana city.

The small demand has practically forced these cuts off the market in many places and the surplus of the

Guernsey Bull Sold for $16,400.

High Point Cavalier 41924, a two-year old Guernsey bull, has recently been sold for $16,400, by C. D. Cleveland, Eatontown, New Jersey, to W. H. Gratwick, Buffalo, New York. This price has been exceeded in the breed only one time in private sale, and once at a public sale. High Point Cavalier, 41924, was bred by Jules Breuchaud, Olive Bridge, New York, and dropped on January 6, 1913.

He is the first calf of the splendid cow, Cavalier's Helen 65648, a daughter of Langwater Cavalier 21,012, and whose record of 734.34 pounds of butter fat gives her fourth place in the senior two year old class. His sire is Ultra May King 27600, a son of Don Bernardo of Linda Vista 20617.

cheaper cuts, frequently sold at a loss, has forced up the price of the more favored portions. Then when the cheaper cuts come from the canning factories, consumers pay dearly for those parts which they refused to buy as fresh meat.

The same thing is true with pork. Shoulders, spare-ribs, sausage, etc., are cheaper than chops, smoked hams, etc., for which the demand is exceptionally great. So it is with lamb and mutton. Chops or leg of lamb for a roast are demanded invariably, while the brisket or cuts from the forequarters frequently would do just as well, the home economics workers say.

"A more general acquaintance with the character and uses of all parts of the animal will be a big factor in reducing the family meat bills," said Miss Florence Boston, one of the extension staff, who has spent considerably time working on this problem.

Big Country Churches.

A sick and shivering drunkard wandered into the old Bowery Mission in New York City one winter night twenty-three years ago. He left it to take the better road. Today that same man is one of the most successful country preachers in America. His community church at Kasbeer, Illinois, is known far and wide for its free Chautauqua, its farmers' institute, its work for better schools, better farms, better village life and its wholesome spiritual influence that permeates an entire county.

The story of the transformation of Frederic Baylis and the great work of his community church is told by A. B. Macdonald in The Country Gentleman of April 3d. Though there are only ninety persons in Kasbeer the church has 152 members and it puts on an annual Chautauqua that has drawn 3000 people in one day. It is back of a farmers' institute that has grown into the proportions of a county fair. Through it a modern high school, with a wide rural patronage, is replacing the old grade school in the village. Amusements hitherto unavailable in this little community have been brought by the church and the standard of living immeasurably lifted.

"The same thing can be done in any community that has only one church," says Mr. Baylis. "I will take this program I am using here, this program of interesting the farmers and helping them, and with it I will rescue any fallen, down-and-out country church. The salvation of any country church is in doing just what we are doing here. We are trying to look after the sweet now-and-now as well as the sweet by-and-by."

WINTER DAIRY RATION WITH OR WITHOUT LEGUMES

Two separate grain rations to be fed with and without legume roughage to dairy cattle have been prepared by dairymen at Purdue University, the rations being based on the results of experimental work.

The grain mixture to be used when legumes are fed, includes 400 pounds of ground corn; 200 pounds of wheat bran or ground oats and either 100 pounds of cottonseed or linseed meal.

When no legume roughage such as clover, alfalfa or soybean hay is available, the grain mixture should include 200 pounds of ground corn, corn and cob meal or hominy feed; 200 pounds of wheat bran or ground oats; 100 pounds of cottonseed meal and in addition 100 pounds of linseed meal. Silage should be used with either ration, in case it is available as it reduces the cost of milk production considerably.

Guernsey or Jersey cattle require one pound of these grain mixtures for every 3½ pounds of milk while Holsteins need one pound for every four pounds of milk produced.

FINDING MISSING PERSONS IS NEVER-ENDING TASK

The Salvation Army, because of its branches in every country in the world, conducts what is probably one of the most efficient of detective bureaus. It is the Bureau of Missing Persons, which sends out daily alarms to all sections in its efforts to find those who have disappeared.

In the United States over 1,800 inquiries for missing persons come into the Salvation Army each year, and in spite of the meagerness of the available information, in spite of the fact that a large proportion of those who are missing do not want to be found, in spite of all the obstacles and hindrances, over 1,000 are located by the Salvation Army each year.

There is the child who runs away from home because the terrors of cold and hunger are nothing to him compared to the fear of school and teacher. There is the man who finds it easier to desert than to support the family that he thinks is too exacting. There is the woman who feels that the river or the open gas jet is less terrifying than the hardships of life. For all these and many others the Salvation Army is conducting a vigilant, unceasing search.

And the methods used in finding the delinquents are as varied as the causes of their disappearance. Sometimes an overlooked clue, an old letter or the address of a friend leads to the end of the search. Sometimes a paragraph inserted in the War Cry—the Salvation Army publication, which is circulated in every country in the world—or in other mediums calculated to catch the eye, will bring the missing one home. Sometimes the man or woman hunt goes on for years, only in the end to become one of those unsolved mysteries that the world speculates upon for a month or two and then promptly forgets.

THE TAMBOURINE GIRL

THE Doughnut Girl of wartime has doffed her khaki and donned the familiar blue. Today she is serving just as valiantly as ever as The Tambourine Girl of the city slums, the angel of the tenements and the guardian of the poor. Instead of the doughnut, the poverty-stricken, the distressed, the sick and the unfortunate know her now and call her blessed. Oh, boy, she's still the Girl—in peace as well as in war!

RURAL CHURCH SURVEY TO BE COMPLETED AT ONCE

Miss Martha Robinson Coming as an Expert to Take Personal Direction.

Rev. F. A. Hayward who has had charge of the county survey work for the Interchurch campaign has secured the assistance of Miss Martha Robinson, of Pennsylvania, to assist in completing the survey in Jackson county.

The Rural Survey Work which has been held up for some time because of storms and bad roads is now going along rapidly. The organization of the various townships was completed this morning and workers are already obtaining information that will soon be tabulated and mapped for the study by the Jackson County Survey Committee. The material promises some surprises and will be read with a degree of interest when presented to the public.

In order to facilitate the work and bring it to a speedy conclusion, Miss Martha Robinson of Pennsylvania, an expert in rural survey work has been brought into the county through the co-operation of The Interchurch Headquarters, of which Dr. Bishop is State Rural Supervisor. Miss Robinson has already been at work for some time in Indiana and helped finish up the survey in Clark County and carried out the Jennings County Survey alone. She did the seemingly impossible thing of completing a County Survey in three weeks. She will remain in Jackson County until the survey is completed and satisfactorily tabulated.

The campaign to reach the $1,000,000 which is to be presented to the people on April 27th-May 2nd will be better understood when we remember that part of it is being spent for the surveys of city and rural communities and with these facts honestly in hand we can go at the work of the church intelligently and without waste. The man who thinks the community is over-churches should be willing to contribute both time and money to find out and remedy that defect if it exists. The man who is conscientiously concerned about the poor returns of the church should honestly set himself in the way of making good. Facts will produce returns.

GAINED WEIGHT LIKE YOUNG PIG SAYS THIS WOMAN

Tips The Scales With Increased Avoirdupois Since She Began Taking Trutona.

Terre Haute, April 12—"I know Trutona is all and more than is claimed for it," says Mrs. Ella Brewer, a well-known Terre Haute woman, who lives at 2412 South Third street. Mrs. Brewer's experience with the perfect tonic follows:

"My system had been in a run-down condition for the past three years. My kidneys and liver were out of shape, especially my liver which was very sluggish. I suffered almost constantly from headaches. My appetite was poor and if I ate half as much as I do now, the food would cause gas formation in my stomach which affected my heart. My tongue was always coated, and I began to feel like a nervous wreck. I could sleep but a few hours at night and often awakened with severe pains striking me in the small of my back."

"When I began taking Trutona I weighed 104 pounds, but today, I tip the scales at 118 and I'm still gaining weight like a young pig. But that's not all, I haven't any more headaches, and my kidneys are in as good shape as they were back in my school days. I sleep like a baby and can eat anything I want to."

"My neighbors all tell me I'm looking better than ever before, and I tell them I certainly feel as good as I look. When I see how much Trutona has done for me I know it will help others, and for that reason I feel it my duty to recommend this wonderful medicine."

Trutona is really a medicine of unusual merit. It is unsurpassed as a reconstructive agency, system purifier and body invigorant. It has been declared peerless as a treatment for stomach, liver and bowel troubles. Trutona is now being introduced and explained in Seymour at W. L. Federmann's Drug Store.

GRAND JURY PROBING WHISKEY RING CASES

Sensational Exposure of Graft and Corruption Investigate at Evansville.

By United Press.

Indianapolis, April 13—The Federal grand jury which was impaneled here a week ago today took up the Evansville "whiskey ring" cases, said to be the most sensational exposure of graft and corruption in Indiana for many years.

L. Ert Slack, former U. S. district attorney, is special prosecutor appointed to press the Evansville cases. It is expected the presentation of evidence will take more than a week, and that dozens of witnesses will be called from Evansville. The alleged "whisky ring" it is said on good authority, involved public officials and political leaders of Evansville.

The whisky ring was an alleged group of men organized to carry on an illicit traffic in liquor between Henderson and other points in Kentucky and Evansville. This traffic is said to have been carried on for more than a year after April 1, 1918 and when Indiana went dry. After that date, it was violation of the Reed amendment to transport liquor from a wet state into a dry.

A well-organized "protection system" is said to have existed to give absolute freedom of movement to the smugglers.

For more than two months, C. W. Green, and R. W. Smith, department of justice operatives who dug up much of the Newberry election evidence in Michigan, have been at work in Evansville gathering evidence in Michigan, have been at work in Evansville gathering evidence for the grand jury. Their work is about closed now, and they are said to be ready to make a detailed report to the district attorney, who in turn will present it to the grand jury.

BASEBALL SEASON IN INDIANA OPENS TOMORROW

New Owners of Indianapolis Club Getting Great Bunch of Players Together.

Indianapolis, April 13—The baseball season in the Hoosier state has its real opening here tomorrow when Indianapolis meets Toledo.

While the college and high school athletes have been forced to practice baseball in their gymnasiums because of cold weather the professional leaguers have been getting in shape in the sunshiny south.

Indiana baseball fans are going to have some team this year. W. C. Smith, the new owner of the Indianapolis club, bought out G. C. McGill and has spent gobs of dough to get a good team together.

Indianapolis appears to have the best infield in the American Association.

Covington is covering the first sack and his ability with the bat is well known. Wolf probably will be at second in the opening game. Schrieber will be at short; Omara at third, rounds out what local fans claim is the fastest infield in the American association.

Behind the plate this year will be Gossett. He is the "war horse" of the team. His ability to slam the pill with the big stick adds to his value. Henline is the second string backstopper.

He is a semi-pro from Milwaukee, and he has proved to be a good judge of a fly ball.

POSTPONEMENT OF ELECTION ASKED

ditions here, filed a report covering the activities of the committee. He said that the committee did not take a stand either for or against a new sewerage system at this time, but did suggest that a plat be made of the present system showing the location, size and depth of the main channels and laterals and that plans and specifications for such a system as would meet the requirement of the city be prepared by a competent engineer. He said that the committee recommended the employment of Charles A. Hurd, of Indianapolis, to complete the survey and specifications.

Mr. Ahlbrand explained that the committee was named last fall when it became known that the council had under consideration the expenditure of about $38,000 for local sewerage and drainage projects. He said that citizens thought that a definite drainage policy ought to be adopted before further expenditures were made so that work done at this time would stand for years to come. When the committee began its deliberations, he stated, it found that there was no sewerage plat on file and that no one in authority in the city knew where the sewers were located, their depth or size. He said that the committee felt that the first step would be to get a plat of the present system and then have plans and specifications prepared for a permanent system. Even if the sewerage contract is not awarded at this time, he pointed out, such records would be invaluable as the council could easily determine where new extensions could be drained and if local drainage projects were feasible.

If the citizens desire to build a new sewerage system now that is a matter for the public to decide. Mr. Ahlbrand stated, but the committee was convinced after six months' investigation that plans should first be made and the cost determined. To vote on a new sewerage system now, he said, would be similar to an individual starting to build a house and getting the plans after the work is started.

The attendance at the meeting was small, but everyone present expressed the view that plans and specifications are necessary before the public can vote intelligently on the matter. The resolution was adopted by unanimous consent.

Clark B. Davis, secretary, reported that he had conferred with the live stock committee of the Indiana Farmers' Federation relative to the establishment of stock yards in this city. He thought that the movement would be a good thing for the city. It is not known when definite decision will be made.

The American Legion was voted support in its plan to hold an Independence Day celebration at Shields

The VALLEY of the GIANTS

By PETER B. KYNE
Author of
"Cappy Ricks"

Copyright by Peter B. Kyne
CHAPTER III.

Throughout the happy years of Bryce's boyhood his father continued to enlarge and improve his sawmill, to build more schooners, and to acquire more redwood timber. Lands, the purchase of which by Cardigan a decade before had caused his neighbors to impugn his judgment, now developed strategic importance. As a result those lands necessary to consolidate his own holdings came to him at his own price, while his adverse holdings that blocked the logging operations of his competitors went from him—also at his own price. In fact, all well-laid plans matured satisfactorily with the exception of one, and since it has a very definite bearing on the story, the necessity for explaining it is paramount.

Contiguous to Cardigan's logging operations to the east and north of Sequoia, and comparatively close in, lay a block of two thousand acres of splendid timber, the natural, feasible, and inexpensive outlet for which, when it should be logged, was the Valley of the Giants. For thirty years John Cardigan had played a waiting game with the owner of that timber, for the latter was as fully obsessed with the belief that he was going to sell it to John Cardigan at a dollar and a half per thousand feet stumpage as Cardigan was certain he was going to buy it for a dollar a thousand—when he should be ready to do so and not one second sooner.

Eventually the time for acquiring more timber arrived. John Cardigan, meeting his neighbor on the street, accosted him thus:

"Look here, Bill, isn't it time we got together on that timber of yours? You know you've been holding it to block me and force me to buy at your figure. I'll give you a dollar a thousand and stumpage for your timber, Bill."

"I want a dollar and a half."

"A dollar is my absolute limit."

"Then I'll keep my timber."

"And I'll keep my money. When I finish logging in my present holdings, I'm going to pull out of that country and log twenty miles south of Sequoia. Remember, Bill, the man who buys your timber will have to log it through my land—and I'm not going to log that quarter-section in the valley. Hence there will be no outlet for your timber in back."

"Not going to log it? Why, what are you going to do with it?"

"I'm just going to let it stay there until I die. When my will is filed for probate, your curiosity will be satisfied—but not until then. Better take a dollar, Bill. It's a good, fair price, as the market on redwood timber is now and you'll be making an even hundred per cent. on your investment."

Seymour, -- Indiana
REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND LOAN

Remember, Bill, if I don't buy your timber, you'll never log it yourself and neither will anybody else. You'll be stuck with it for the next forty years—and taxes aren't getting any lower."

"I'll hang on a little longer, I think."

"I think so, too," John Cardigan replied. And that night, as was his wont, even though he realized that it was not possible for Bryce to gain a profound understanding of the business problems to which he was heir, John Cardigan discussed the Squaw creek timber with his son, relating to him the details of his conversation with the owner.

Bryce pondered. "But isn't it cheaper to give him his price on Squaw creek timber than go logging in the San Hedrin and have to build twenty miles of logging railroad to get your logs to the mill?"

"It would be, son, if I had to build the railroad. Fortunately, I do not. I'll just shoot the logs down the hillside to the San Hedrin river and drive them down the stream to a log-boom on tidewater."

Bryce looked at his father admiringly. "I guess Dan Keyes is right, Dad," he said. "Dan says you're crazy—like a fox. Now I know why you've been picking up claims in the San Hedrin watershed."

"No, you don't, Bryce. I've never told you, but I'll tell you now the real reason. Humboldt county has no rail connection with the outside world, so we are forced to ship our lumber by water. But some day a railroad will be built in from the south—from San Francisco; and when it comes, the only route for it to travel is through our timber in the San Hedrin valley. I've accumulated that ten thousand acres for you, my son, for the railroad will never be built in my day. It doesn't matter, son. You will still be logging there fifty years from now. And when the railroad people come to you for a right of way, my boy, give it to them. Don't charge them a cent. It has always been my policy to encourage the development of this county, and I want you to be a forward-looking, public-spirited citizen. That's why I'm sending you East to college. You've been born and raised in this town, and you must see more of the world. Listen to me, son. You're only a boy, and you can't understand everything I tell you, but some day understanding will come to you. You mustn't fail the people who work for you—who are dependent upon your strength and brains and enterprise to furnish them with an opportunity for life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. When you are the boss of Cardigan's mill, you must keep the wheels turning; you must never shut down the mill or the logging-camps in dull times just to avoid a loss you can stand better than your employees."

His hard, trembling old hand closed over the boy's. "I want you to be a brave and honorable man," he concluded.

True to his word, when John Cardigan finished his logging in his old, original holdings adjacent to Sequoia and Bill Henderson's Squaw creek timber, he quietly moved south with his Squaw creek woods-gang and joined the crew already getting out logs in the San Hedrin watershed. Not until then did Bill Henderson realize that John Cardigan had called his bluff—whereat he cursed himself for a fool and a poor judge of human nature. He had tried a hold-up game and had failed; a dollar a thousand feet stumpage was a fair price; for years he had needed the money; and now, when it was too late, he realized his error. Luck was with Henderson, however, for shortly thereafter there came again to Sequoia one Colonel Pennington, a millionaire white-pine operator from Michigan. From a chair-warmer on the porch of the Hotel Sequoia, the Colonel had heard the tale of how stiff-necked old John Cardigan had called the bluff of equally stiff-necked Bill Henderson; so for the next few weeks the Colonel, under pretense of going hunting or fishing on Squaw creek, managed to make a fairly accurate cursory cruise of the Henderson timber—following which he purchased it from the delighted Bill for a dollar and a quarter per thousand feet stumpage.

No man is infallible and in planning his logging operations in the San Hedrin watershed John Cardigan presently made the discovery that he had erred in judgment. That season, from May to November, his woods-crew put thirty million feet of logs into the San Hedrin river, while the mill sawed on a reserve supply of logs taken from the last of the old chop-pings adjacent to Squaw creek. That year, however, the rainfall in the San Hedrin country was fifty per cent. less than normal, and by the first of May of the following year Cardigan's woods-crew had succeeded in driving slightly less than half of the cut of the preceding year to the boom on tidewater at the mouth of the river.

"Unless the Lord'll gi' us a lot more water in the river," the woods-boss McTavish complained, "I dinna see how I'm to keep the mill runnin'." He was taking John Cardigan up the river bank and explaining the situation. "The heavy butt-logs have sunk to the bottom," he continued. "We a normal head o' water, the lads'll move them, but w' the drapple we have the nee—" He threw up his hamlike hands despairingly.

Three days later a cloud-burst filled the river to the brim; it came at night and swept the river clean of Cardigan's clear logs. An army of jag-germuts, they swept down on the boiling torrent to tidewater, reaching the bay shortly after the tide had commenced to ebb.

Now, a chain is only as strong as its weakest link, and a log-boom is a chaplet of small logs, linked end to end by means of short chains; hence when the van-guard of logs on the lip of that flood reached the log-boom, the impetus of the charge was too great to be resisted. Straight through the weakest link in this boom the huge saw-logs crashed and out over Humboldt bar to the broad Pacific. With the ebb tide some of them came back, while others, caught in cross-currents, bobbed about the bay all night and finally beached at widely scattered points. Out of the fifteen million feet of logs less than three million were salvaged, and this task in itself was an expensive operation.

John Cardigan received the news calmly. He turned from the manager and walked away through his logged-over lands, across the little divide and down into the quarter-section of green timber he had told McTavish not to cut. Once in the Valley of the Giants, he followed a well-worn foot-path to the little amphitheater, and where the sunlight filtered through like a halo and fell on a plain little white marble monument, he paused and sat down on the now almost decayed sugar-pine windfall.

"I've come for a little comfort, sweetheart," he murmured to her who slept beneath the stone. Then he leaned back against a redwood tree, removed his hat, and closed his eyes, holding his great gray head the while a little to one side in a listening attitude. Long he sat there, a great, time-bitten devotee at the shrine of his comfort; and presently the hurried look left his strong, kind face and was replaced by a little present smile—the sort of smile worn by one who through bitter years has sought something very, very precious and has at length discovered it.

At the meeting next Sunday afternoon at the Presbyterian study each of the church representatives will bring a list of friendly citizens. From these the duplications will be checked off and a final list prepared. The names contained on the revised list will be divided among the various workers.

The Inter-church movement is the most gigantic undertaking of its kind ever attempted in the religious world. The success which has been met by the different denominations has been unparalleled and the leaders believe that the campaign among the friendly citizens will be equally successful. Many people, it is explained, are not affiliated with any church, yet they recognize the value of religious denominations and will contribute for the work which they are doing and which is to be undertaken in the near future both at home and in foreign fields.

U.S. NAVY

With the Fleet

When you can look out over the stern of a big dreadnaught and see a line of regular he-ships following in battle formation, you just can't help swelling up and letting out a couple of man-sized roars.

A fair sea, a good breeze, and a line of battleships making fifteen to twenty knots, present the most inspiring sight any man can ask on this earth.

Living with such experiences turns boys into men, gives them a grip on life, makes real stuff of them. They work hard, they play hard, and we know that, if necessary, they can fight hard.

Learn about your wonderful Navy. Be proud of it. It is respected by every country in the world. And it is yours; every bit your Navy.

INDIANA'S TRAVELING MEN FORM "FLYING SQUADRON" FOR WOOD

Salesmen Organize Branch of Wood-for-President League and Will Boost Candidate On Road and at Home—Will Have Units In Every Congressional District and County.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—(Special)—Hoosier traveling men living in every part of Indiana are being organized into a "flying squadron" for the purpose of boosting the candidacy of Leonard Wood for the Republican presidential preference. Units of the Wood-for-President league are being formed in every congressional district and in every county. District and county managers will be appointed and the travelers' branch will function in the same way as the Leonard Wood Indiana campaign organization.

The Twelfth District unit has been entirely organized and active work has been taken up. John Watts, of Ft. Wayne, is the district manager. County managers who have been appointed, are Joseph Roselle, Allen; Ora E. Smith, Steuben; and Reed Willis, Whitley.

Units for Every District.

The salesmen in the twelve other districts have taken the organization matter up and district and county managers will be elected in the next few days, it was announced here by Harry G. Hogan, state campaign manager for Leonard Wood.

Mr. Hogan said the Twelfth district is the first one to be entirely organized under the plan adopted for the Wood movement. This district is now represented by completed organized units embracing the men workers, the women workers, the traveling men and Wood-for-President league. Austin Stults is manager of the district men's organization; Mrs. H. C. Willis, of Waterloo, is manager of the women's division; John Watts heads the traveling men's branch; and District Manager Stults and Charles Biederswolf are in charge of the Twelfth District Wood-for-President league.

Speakers Take Stump.

Arch M. Hall, an Indianapolis manufacturer, who is one of the speakers stumping the state for Wood, made a number of addresses last week and early this week in various centers. Montaville Flowers, of Monrovia, Cal., former chairman of the speakers' bureau of the Progressive party's campaign in 1912, and one of the most prominent lecturers and speakers in the nation, spoke at Wood meetings at Lafayette and Ft. Wayne recently. He is to speak at a number of other meetings soon.

Mr. Hall, in one of his recent speeches said:

"Leonard Wood knows how to obey law. He showed that when he went back to Camp Funston and trained a new division which won the praise of allied officers, after he had been denied the opportunity of going to the front with the first division he had perfected."

Can Accept Advice.

"Wood knows how to enforce law. He demonstrated this by his administration in Cuba and his record in the Philippines. He knows how to accept advice and showed that he does when he chose his advisors and associates in the work of rebuilding devastated Cuba after the Spanish War."

Harry Moberly, of Shelbyville, manager of the Wood organization in the sixth district, was a caller at Wood headquarters here late last week. Mr. Moberly said the progress being made by the Wood leaders in his district is very encouraging and declared he feels that a Wood victory in every county of his district is assured by the great interest that has been taken in the Wood movement by the majority of the voters.
